Dear Mother
I received your letter of the 10th and was glad to hear from you and to hear that you were all well. I am well at present and hope these few lines will find you all the same. I have not much news to write at present. I am still in the same place and doing the same work. I hope to hear from you again soon.

Yours affectionately
John Smith
P.S. I have not time to write more at present. I must close for this time. Write soon.
To Mother & Family

The first thing I did
 was to go to the
 office and see
 what was going on.
 I found that the
 work was not
 getting on very well. I had to call a meeting
 of the board and
 discuss the situation. I had to be very
 firm with them
 and make it clear that I
 was in charge.
 I had to tell
 them that I
 was not going
 to let them
 run the office
 as they saw
 fit. I had to tell them that I was going to
 take control
 of the office
 and that I was going to make
 sure that the
 work was done properly. I
 had to tell
 them that I
 was going to
 be very strict
 with them and
 that I was
 sure that they
 were doing
 their jobs
 properly. I
 be very firm
 sure that they
 properly.

[Faint, illegible handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.]

The first part of the paper is a list of names and addresses, which are written in a very faint and illegible hand. The names appear to be arranged in columns, but the text is too faded to read. The second part of the paper contains several lines of text, also in a very faint hand. The text is mostly illegible, but some words and phrases are visible, such as "I have the pleasure to inform you" and "I am, Sir, very respectfully,
 Your obedient servant,
 J. M. [illegible]"

I have been thinking of you very much lately & wondering how you are getting on
 I hope you are well
